These and Many More Good Things Coming to You in the Popular Crowell Group

A "Cook-Lady" Heroine

WHEN Jean Mackaye, attractive, popular and accustomed to all the comforts and luxuries of life, suddenly discovered that she must earn her own living, she decided, of all things, to be a "cook-lady," as she termed it,—because cooking was her only useful accomplishment. Her experiences are exciting and amusing, and quite out of the ordinary. It is a love story, too—and every chapter is just as delightfully whimsical and full of common sense as Jean herself. Eleanor Hoyt Brainerd is the author of the story. She calls it "The Ineligibles"—and it promises to be even more popular than her famous "Belinda" stories. It will appear soon in the WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION.

And Here is "Gerry"—

who wanted to become a great painter. Gerry is the heroine of Juliet Wilbor Tompkins's clever new story soon to appear as a two-part novel in the COMPANION. It tells of the career of a confident, talented, fascinating girl who, after the adulation of a small town, enters the studio life of New York and encounters both failure and success. In doing so, she also changes her ideals—but that is the story. Gerry's career and romance are equally absorbing. The story introduces us to two sisters just as interesting and lovable as were "Diantha" and "Sylvia," who not so long ago made their appearance in the WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION.

Do You Remember—

the conceited (?) man who wrote "The Girls Who Wanted to Marry Me?" Well, here's a joke on somebody. It so happened that one of the girls he wrote about read it, recognized herself in the story as one of the young ladies who wanted to marry him, and wrote an answer which is as diverting a bit of feminine confession as you could imagine. She calls her story "The Chocolate Bonbons Look," and every woman who read the confession of the man in the case will enjoy enormously the clever way in which she turns the tables on him in particular, and on the whole masculine sex in general. This is one of the many unusual features appearing in early numbers of WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION.

"Peace"

HERE is a tiny reproduction of a picture that will cause comment from one shore of America to the other. It is by the famous C. Arnold Slade, and will appear in full color, full-page size, in an early issue of the COMPANION. Accompanying it, there will be a charming and appropriate verse by Laura Spencer Portor. This picture, ready for framing, will be worth to you many times more than the price of a year's subscription to the COMPANION.

WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION has been called the most beautifully illustrated of all woman's magazines. Even the smallest illustrations are by good artists.

The Only Really Complete Magazine Service for the Home

WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION, the best all-around woman's magazine in the world, fills certain needs in the household. THE AMERICAN MAGAZINE, noble, virile, red-blooded, fills still other needs. In between, four times a month, fifty-two times a year, the bright, new, sunny, indispensable EVERY WEEK! Each a truly great magazine in its own broad sphere. Together, a complete magazine service such as is found in no other combination of magazines. And best of all, if you take the three together you will save one whole dollar on the regular subscription price.

New and Absolutely Different!

EVERY WEEK, with its sunny greeting fifty-two times a year, will be your best friend—the most genial, cheerful, full-of-fun, full-of-help friend you ever had. Brief, fresh, up-to-the-minute news-articles boiled down and condensed for quick reading; a "best seller" serial novel; smashing-good short stories; gossipy bits about people who are doing things; clever, caught-in-the-act pictures of them; practical, money-saving, health-saving suggestions; a snappy four-page picture section in Alco-Gravure. That is what you are going to get every week in EVERY WEEK.

The little daughter of Alice Joyce has just discovered in EVERY WEEK a stunning picture of her favorite aunt—Mary Pickford.

You Can Make More Money

IF YOU are a woman, would you like to know how to turn your few spare moments each week into spare dollars? Would you like to know the little ways and big ways you can make dollars go further in running your household? If you are a man, would you like to know how to better your health, increase your personal efficiency and your earning capacity? Would you? Then read EVERY WEEK every week.

You Are Invited—

to be present at the marriage of Dora Trelawny to Teddy Tyson. Dora is, in popular phrase, a Chorus Girl. Teddy is the junior member of a pair of acrobats. EVERY WEEK invites you to live with them for the next six weeks in their boarding-house quarters, where they eat and quarrel and practice their acts; behind the scenes in the theaters and in restaurants after the performances are over. This wonderfully appealing novel, "The Blue Aura," was written for EVERY WEEK by Elizabeth York Miller.

Going Up!

EVERY WEEK is the fastest growing magazine in America. It is growing! growing! growing! It simply cannot keep from growing. People want something different. EVERY WEEK gives it to them.

Men want it when they see it—because they are busy, and it gives them "busy reading." Women love it. EVERY WEEK is especially edited for women. Reading EVERY WEEK becomes a habit. The EVERY WEEK habit is the big, universal habit. Get it!

The Old Ambish

"THEY'LL all tell you that ball players are born and not made—but don't fall for that dope: I made one; one of the best that ever sunk a spike into an umpire's instep or wanted to lick a reporter." That is the beginning of Hugh Fullerton's newest story. Get a good hold on your sides and read it. It is the funniest baseball story Fullerton ever wrote—and what he doesn't know about baseball isn't worth knowing. Mr. Fullerton is a frequent contributor to THE AMERICAN MAGAZINE.

Big Things Men Are Doing

MEN are doing big things in this day in America. We are living in an age that is making big men of little men and big businesses of little businesses. And more and more are these big men of to-day giving the fruits of their experiences to THE AMERICAN MAGAZINE—moved by the hope that their words will be a help and inspiration to others. Men like Charles M. Schwab, Frank A. Vanderlip, Ogden J. Armour, Henry Vail and Elbert H. Gary write for THE AMERICAN MAGAZINE—because they know that THE AMERICAN MAGAZINE is the greatest influence in American homes to-day—and because they know that readers of THE AMERICAN MAGAZINE get more actual help and inspiration from true stories of real men who have done things than they can from all the volumes of "theory" that are printed.

Here are some of the stirring business articles that are coming in THE AMERICAN MAGAZINE:

A new series of Business Stories—by Ellis Parker Butler.
"Cecil Rhodes, the Most Wonderful Business Man I Ever Knew"—by John Hays Hammond.
"A Top-Notcher at 39"—by Nathan C. Brush of Boston.
"What Makes a $5,000 Man"—by the head of the biggest Life Insurance Company in the world—Darwin P. Kingsley.
"Why I Am Not Afraid to Die"—a business man's curious confession.
"The Story of a Wife-Made Man"—by a man who was told he loved his wife too much.
"Advertising Eddie," A member of the "Get-Out and Get-On Club"—a story of a man who advertised himself out of a business rut up to the head of a big corporation.

The Morals of Peter

MARJORIE BENTON COOKE, author of "Bamby," "The Dual Alliance," "Cinderella Jane," etc., continues to favor THE AMERICAN MAGAZINE with her delightful stories.

Little Peter, "Just Peter," and no other name as far as he knew, is the hero of Miss Cooke's newest story. And then there is "Snort"—a dog just as ragged and homeless as was Peter. The adventures of these two little ragamuffins are woven together into an appealing story that touches the heart strings—a story such as only Marjorie Benton Cooke can write. It is coming soon in THE AMERICAN MAGAZINE.

Another "Victor" Story

By SOPHIE KERR

IT WAS she on our right who caused all the excitement. But do you wonder? Not more than sixteen, a wild-rose creature, eyes shyly daring, hair a dusky cloud, scarlet lips glowing with youth, innocence and naïveté. "Monsieur Rienzi Takes a Hand" is the title of Sophie Kerr's newest story—and in it, it develops that our old friend "Victor" learns a new punch—from an ancient hero.

This is only one of the dozens of absorbing short stories that are coming to you in the next few numbers of THE AMERICAN MAGAZINE.

Rev. W. L. Richardson,

Edmonds, Wash.

Dear Sir:

Yours of the 3rd. inst. received, and I am glad to give you what information I can concerning the questions you ask.

It is the law that where money is raised by taxation for a certain purpose that it cannot be diverted and used for some other purpose. After receiving your letter I 'phoned Mr. Loutitt, and he says that, as he understands it, they are not using money raised for the library fund for other purposes, and he also stated, as you state in your letter, that they are unable to find the contract or agreement between the city and the Carnegie people. However, this contract may be in the Federal Court as the contractors were adjudged bankrupt and a great many papers connected with the library were filed in the Federal Court at that time. Now unless there are some provisions in that contract that would change the status of things, the money raised by taxation to support the library would be used in paying warrants issued against that fund in the order of their issue, and, of course, I am unable to give you any definite opinion on this matter without reading that contract.

If there is a contract between the Carnegie people and the city of Edmonds that the city will pay $500.00 annually towards the maintenance of the library, and the council levied a quarter of one per cent for that purpose, then, in my opinion, this money must, under the law, be used for that purpose, and no other.

If you can find this contract and send it to me I will write you more fully concerning this matter.

W. P. BELL

You speak of paying for this opinion, but knowing something of your financial condition, and the poor health that you have suffered lately, I am glad to give you this information without charge, and will also give you my opinion as to the proper construction of the contract with the Carnegie people if you can secure a copy of it, without any charge.

Yours very respectfully,

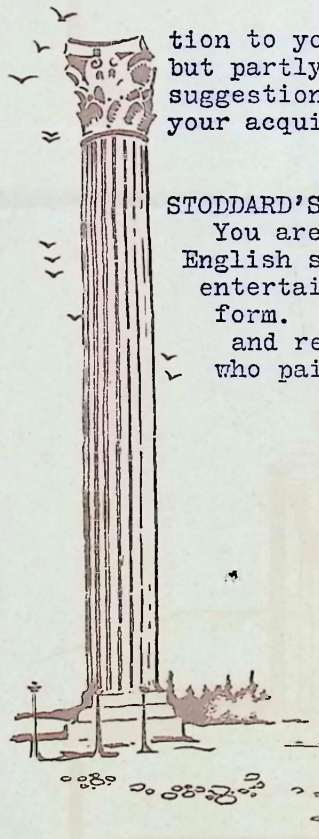
Dear Madam :-

We wish to acknowledge with thanks your order for one set of JOHN L. STODDARD'S LECTURES, terms of which are given on the reverse side.

Now that you have selected "STODDARD" as an addition to your home, we feel that our good work would be but partly done if we neglected to make you the following suggestions, so that you may fully appreciate the value of your acquisition.

We want you to appreciate the fact that in the STODDARD'S LECTURES you have more than merely a set of books. You are placing in your home what is acknowledged by the English speaking people to be the finest course of travel entertainments that has ever been delivered from the platform. There were over seven million persons of culture and refinement in the United States and Great Britain who paid from $1.00 to $3.00 to hear but one of these Lectures delivered. Without exception they were more than satisfied with their investment, although they carried away with them but a pleasant memory. In the books, you have the complete course of forty-two Lectures, and five thousand views, just as they were given from the platform by Mr. Stoddard, for the entertainment and instruction of the vast audiences who always thronged to hear him.



See to it that every member of your household makes these panoramic journeys with Mr. Stoddard, and in this way becomes acquainted with the world as it is to-day and as it yesterday. Make companions

Dear Madam:

I am sorry that illness has kept me from getting the report out before.

Because of the difference in book-keeping, there is a difference of $.00 in the balance on my books and those of the treasurer. I entered the salary as $0.00 per month while the city clerk pays me $[illegible] per month and keeps the $0.00 per month for three months then sends it in to the government.

There is a balance of $.[illegible] unpaid for 1945's tax which makes the treasurer's balance on hand Dec. 31, 1945, $170.12. My balance is $109.12, $60.00 less.

I shall keep the same record of the salary as the city clerk does for the present year so the balance will be the same.

Yours sincerely,

Librarian.

The Subscription Staff

The Crowell Publishing Company

Springfield ~~~ Ohio

Woman's Home Companion  The American Magazine

June 1, 1917.

Dear Staff Member:

The Crowell magazines pay you best.

And they also pay best the thousands of other Staff Members who are concentrating on WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION, THE AMERICAN MAGAZINE, EVERY WEEK and FARM AND FIRESIDE.

Circular enclosed gives your liberal commissions. In addition, you are paid a bonus for six (6) or more subscription points in one calendar month.

But apart from the money earned, we have a peculiar satisfaction in boosting the Crowell Group. The other day a Staff Member remarked to me, "I would rather pay twenty-five cents for a copy of The American Magazine than fifteen or twenty cents for _____ or_____ ." Sure enough, the solid worth of our magazines editorially makes us want to place them in every home, and it is especially gratifying that we can give either WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION or THE AMERICAN MAGAZINE two years for only $2.50.

Let me know if you need current samples and other supplies. Return blank below, giving me your assurance that you will work hard to make a good June record for WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION, THE AMERICAN MAGAZINE, EVERY WEEK and FARM AND FIRESIDE, demonstrating that

They pay you best.

Cordially yours,

John Duncanson

Chicago, Ill., March 1, 1912.

To the Librarian:

We enclose herewith the latest list of our publications thinking there will be some which you need, but which have escaped your notice. We want to call your special attention to a few.

A.L.A. LIST OF SUBJECT HEADINGS. The long looked for revised edition is now published. Every library which has a card catalog needs a copy of this valuable cataloging tool. Has three times material of previous edition. Special reinforced binding. $2.50, carriage free.

A.L.A. CATALOG, 1904-11. A careful selection of the 3,000 best books published since 1904. This will be the most valuable aid in book selection since the A.L.A. Catalog of 1904. Mr. M. S. Dudgeon, Secretary of the Wisconsin Free Library Commission, has sent a letter to the president of every library board in Wisconsin regarding the Catalog, 1904-11, in which he says: "No library 'can afford to be without' this book. This overworked phrase is in this instance a mere statement of fact since nothing can take the place of this catalog as a guide in buying books. The smallest library which buys even one book per month can well afford to use a monthly allowance in the purchase of this catalog." If you have not ordered a copy you should certainly do so. To be published soon. Before publication, $1(postpaid $1.20); after publication, $1.50.

A.L.A. BOOKLIST. This monthly magazine devoted to book selection is edited with the assistance of librarians and specialists in all parts of the country; nothing else takes its place. If you are not familiar with the A.L.A. BOOKLIST we will send you a sample copy free on request. Subscription, $1 a year.

A.L.A. MANUAL OF LIBRARY ECONOMY. 10 chapters are now printed, each as a separate pamphlet. See enclosed list for particulars. Place your standing order for chapters as they appear. Price, 10 cents each.

We also particularly call your attention to Kroeger's Guide to Reference Books, and Supplement, the A.L.A. Booklist Subject Index, valuable aid in book ordering, and the Catalog Rules, and the various Library Handbooks.

Very truly yours,
GEORGE B. UTLEY, Secretary.
